Sunrise and sunset on the 15th of each month, UK clock time. Helicopters fly by sight and cannot use an unlit site after dark, so the last flight of the day is planned back from sunset. If a flight is cancelled because of the weather, you pay nothing.

WHY WHITE WALTHAM

White Waltham Airfield, near Maidenhead, is about three miles in a straight line from Bray. It is an established airfield that handles helicopters and light aircraft, and it is far closer than any larger airport. It is operated by the West London Aero Club, and its own pilot information makes prior permission mandatory, so we arrange that as part of the booking, and the airfield's hours and conditions apply to the day.

THE ROUTE AND THE TRANSFER

From Battersea Heliport the flight to White Waltham is about 22 nautical miles, an estimated 14 minutes in a twin-engine Agusta A109. The airfield sits close to the Heathrow control zone, so the routeing is agreed with the pilot and may take a slightly longer path than the straight line. A vehicle waits at the airfield for the drive into Bray; we will give you the transfer time once the car is booked.

TIMING A LUNCH SITTING

At the time of writing the restaurant is open Wednesday and Thursday for dinner only, and Friday to Sunday for lunch and dinner; it is closed on Monday and Tuesday. Booking is through the restaurant's site or by phone, and new slots are announced through its newsletter, so book first and tell us the time.

- ☐ Lunch, Friday to Sunday: depart Battersea comfortably over an hour before your table to allow for the flight, the landing and the drive.
- ☐ Return: the vehicle brings you back to White Waltham at the time you choose, and the helicopter is ready for a flight back to Battersea.
